

University of California Santa Barbara

BLUMCENTER

ON POVERTY, INEQUALITY, AND DEMOCRACY

Student Research Funding for Cooperative Economics Projects

DEADLINE TO APPLY:
FRI. NOVEMBER 18TH

Cooperative economics examines the democratization of economic life and addresses issues of inequality, community empowerment, and wealth building from the bottom up.

We are interested in a wide variety of student projects that consider collective economic approaches.

The Blum Center is offering grant funding from $100 to $1000

Submit Here

For more information please refer to our website:
www.blumcenter.ucsb.edu

1st Zoom Info Session: Friday, October 21st
2nd Zoom Info Session: Monday, November 7th

Please email Nick Cohen at ncohen@ucsb.edu to register or for additional questions.

